TWENTIETH century living at its ultimate is evident in builder Mike Callan's projected 381-unit apartment project, expected to be ready for renters next spring. First leg of the development will be located on six acres behind the Serra theater, between 89th and 91st streets and Edgeworth and Sullivan avenues. Callan and architect Warren J. Pollock consider the style the latest in the garden court technique. Each unit will rent at an estimated $125 a month.

OK Salary Hikes For DC Brass

Five per cent salary raises for city employees, costing some $35,000, were approved by the city council Tuesday despite protests of two councilmen against inclusion of top echelon personnel the blanket pay boosts.

The measure to grant all cty employees the fve per cent raise passed by a 3-2 margin, Councilmen Del Wilson and Micheal De Bernardi opposing the sweeping increases, as they had in last week's study session.

Wilson said he would go along with five per cent for all classified city employees and three per cent for top echelon personnel.

De Bernardi was against any increase for administrative personnel.

The increases approved by the council had been recommended by the personnel board.

Stites, Calhoun Hike

In addition to raising salaries of all employees and department heads, City Manager Howard Stites pay will go up from 13,990 to $14,690 a year, while Public Works Director Otis Calhoun will receive $10,609, as compared to his present $10,104.

The personnel board's recommendation to raise administrative assistant Fred Avilez' position two steps on the civil service list was not acted upon. The step increase would raise Avilez' salary range from $385-$447 to $425-$493.

Councilman Paul Hupf said he questioned "whether the city manager's office requires

New Finance Director Takes Over October 1

George Watts, 39-year-old Antioch controller, has been named director of finance here, succeeding Jerome Scharfman, who took a similar post in Torrance, Calif.

Watts, whose appointment was announced Tuesday by City Manager Howard Stites, will receive a starting salary of $660, with a top range of $728. He will start October 1.

The new finance chief has served as controller for city of Antioch for the past five years.

Prior to that he worked one year as a public accountant in Montebello, and four years as controller of the city's cost accounting section in Glendale

He was graduated from the University of Utah and is a native of Salt City.

In his original application, Watts said he would not accept the Daly City position at the salary advertised, but Stites said he had "reconsidered." Stites termed Watts the "outstanding" candidate for the job. The manager emphasized the

Hupf Seen Top Choice For Position

City council was scheduled to meet this Thursday night in closed session to name a city attorney.

Considered among top candidates for the job was Councilman Paul Hupf.

Should Hupf be named to replace Frank Blum, newly-appointed superior judge, a vacancy would remain on the city council.

Since Hupf's term still has more than three years to run, a decision to name his replacement is expected to be hard fought.

While it appeared that the council would make the attorney appointment at the star-chamber session, the naming of a council appointee, should Hupf get the attorney job, is not expected for at least another week.

Blum's resignation took effect Tuesday, making the appointment of his replacement an urgent one for the council.

Some five candidates are said to be under consideration for council appointment if Hupf wins the attorney job.

DC's Fatal Formula

As the economists would phrase it, Daly City is accelerating at a decelerating rate.

As more city brass fall into the payroll line, the business of running the community falls further behind.

Just last week the council heard that the engineer's office is several month's behind on checking blueprints and plans for new commercial developments. This paradox was even questioned by a councilman, who observed that a few years back when the city had no engineering department, it kept abreast of its plan checking work. Today, with a whole crew of engineers, the city is unable to keep pace with its work, i.e., checking plans for one new commercial project.

This week the city fathers learned that water billing is five weeks behind, purportedly because the city has been without a director of finance for a few weeks.

If the trend continues, the city's water billing will fall further behind when the new finance chief takes over October 1.

The city manager is building up a case to justify his pleas for more administrators. Almost weekly, the council learns of deficiencies in certain departments, occasioned, the manager says, by lack of personnel.

We have noted, however, that whenever a new administrator is hired, he suddenly finds himself short of people to administer. Thus, the acceleration of hiring continues. When the department is sufficiently bulky, the administrator is then overworked, needs more pay, more help, to extricate the department from its dilemma.

While we accelerate on the payroll ledger, we are slowly slipping further behind in managing the city's affairs.

The formula has been established. Which will the city run out of first—money or administrators?

Floral Tribute Sunday

Miss Daly City, Phillis Adams, and City Manager Howard I. Stites, will cut the ribbon for the Daly City Garden Club's annual flower show this Sunday at 1 p.m. in the War Memorial building, Mission and Alp streets.

The show's theme, "Magic Carpet," will be carried out in various divisions: outdoor plants, cut flowers, floral arrangements, and displays by nurseries and floral societies.

Committee for the show is as follows: Mrs. C. M. Yohn, general chairman; Mrs. H. Rosenberg, co-chairman; Dick Hunter, staging; Mrs. Edmund Kohlhauf, schedule; Mrs. Andrew Bretz, Jr., entries and publicity; Mrs. Lyal Ingersoll and Mrs. B. K. Streeter, hospitality; Mrs. M. E. Frasu, signs and posters; S. Mollette, conservation; Mrs. Dick Hunter, classifications.

Various members of the club have won awards in recent exhibits. At the San Francisco Flower Show. Hymen Rosenberg received the sweepstakes award for beginners in flower arrangements, and Mrs. Edmund Kohlhauf received a first and two third prizes in flower arrangements.

Mrs. Kohlhauf also represented the club at the San Mateo County Fair & Floral Fiesta, August 2-10, and won two second place awards in professional flower arrangements. Mr. &

SCHOOLS JAMMED

1054 On Half Sessions

Almost twenty percent of Daly City's 5720 elementary school children are undergoing double session education in five of the district's 12 grammar schools.

The readjusted schedule, which took parents by surprise, placed 1054 pupils on the half-day basis instead of the previously announced 600 students.

Thirty-four classes in 17 classrooms are affected.

Here's Why

Heavier than expected enrollment and unavoidable delay on Vista Mar elementary in Westlake and Vista Grande primary were given as the chief reasons for the problem.

Supt. H. Z. Weibel told trustees Wednesday night that completion of both new plants by February 1 will terminate the double sessions — temporarily.

Isadore Thompson, district inspector on the Vista Grande project, informed the board that six classrooms might be ready by mid-October at that school. Although he repeatedly criticized the contractor, Hub Pacific company, for "unnecessary delays," Thompson reminded that under the contract the school isn't to be delivered until January 27.

Next February

Vista Mar's completion date is February 1, with almost 50 percent of the project finished as of this week.

The 552 Vista Mar students are scattered at four schools, forcing Benjamin Franklin, Garden Village, Olympia and Westlake onto the doubled-up schedule.

Vista Grande's 212 pupils are being housed at Colma K-6 and Thornton.

All 12 JESD schools are splitting at the seams. To Benjamin Franklin's 878 enrollment have been added 179 Vista Mar children.

Crowded Colma

Colma K-6, with 550 students of its own, is accomodating 102 Vista Grande youngsters.

INTRODUCE LAW TO ALLOW MEAT SALES AFTER 6P.M.

An ordinance which will rescind legislation probhibiting sale of uncooked meats after 6 p.m. and on Sundays was introduced Tuesday night by Councilman Del Wilson.

The measure will come up for second reading and adoption at the September 23 council session.

Wilson introduced the ordinance over protest of Councilman Sanford Vickers, who said the city should have a substitite ordinance governing the sale of meats before rescinding the 1929 legislation.

Three councilmen favor repealing the 28-year-old legislation, while Vickers and Paul Hupf favor retaining the ordinance.

Blum Testimonial Dinner October 29

Frank Blum, newly-appointed superior judge, will be honored October 29 at a testimonial dinner to be held at Lake Merced Country club.

A committee of ten persons, headed by Peter Markovich, is sponsoring the event for Blum, former city attorney.

Admission for the testimonial function is $7.50.

The Town Record

By MONTE DAYTON

SHARON SANTA MARIA, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. NICK SANTA MARIA, 587 Wyandotte, had double trouble recently.

She was bike riding with her friend, DOROTHY PEARSON, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. FRENCH, 588 Wyandotte, when she fell from her bike and fractured her leg.

Dorothy stood the two bikes up against a shed and escorted Sharon to the hospital with a bystander who had offered to help the injured girl.

When Dorothy returned 15 minutes later she found both bikes had been stolen.

Sharon is home from St. Joseph's hospital, her leg in a cast. She won't be able to ride a bike for some time, but even if she could, she'd have none to ride.

And Dorothy may be bikeless for some time, too.

We hope the bike pilferers have a change of heart.

The high school bus schedule lists Jonesburgers restaurant on the Coastside as one of the stops.

Jonesburger is no more, however, since the state moved in with their heavy equipment and demolished the popular hangout to make way for a new freeway.

City Attorney (it's superior judge now) FRANK BLUM almost had to prepare a resolution of commendation for himself as his last official act for Daly City.

But councilman PAUL HUPF, himself an attorney, stepped in to handle the chore.

HIGH SCHOOL ATTENDANCE ALMOST 2400

High school enrollment in Daly City will reach a record 2400 if all eligible students attend classes, Supt. Ed Morgan reported today.

First enrollment returns this week listed 1188 students at new Westmoor High in Westlake and 1140 at Jefferson.

This is an increase of 362 students over last year's total for the two plants. Jeff population led Westmoor last time, 1130-836, with both student bodies crowding the Jeff campus.

Morgan said that 140 additional students who registered failed to report. He anticipates that at least more than one-third of these will report, swelling district enrollment to around the 2400 mark.

Volunteer Firemen Win Point

A ruling which will allow full-time city employees to retain their membership in the volunteer fire department will be incorporated in the new civil service rules and regulations, the personnel board decided Tuesday.

A furor was created last week when city employees received a memorandum from the city manager which decreed that they would not be compensated for answering calls as volunteer fire fighters. Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy and volunteers had feared that this would mean the end of their group.

An emergency meeting of the personnel board, was held Thursday, at which time the volunteers explained their plight.

In Tuesday's session, personnel board members decided that the seven city employees now in the volunteers could maintain their status with the latter

Pershing Argument 'Settled'

Although San Francisco school and political bosses are still grumbling in their beards and have hinted court action, Jefferson Elementary school district will get a full 10-acre site for its sorely needed new General Pershing school.

The Daly City district scored a moral victory over their big neighbors Tuesday in Sacramento when the State Allocations Board refused to heed San Francisco's move to prevent the JESD from including 2½ acres of SF property in the site.

The state board, by deadlocking at 3-3, thus maintained its earlier stand for the full 10-acres. The money for the 455-student school had been appropriated several months earlier.

Not Angry

JESD chairman Hartley Appleton, at Wednesday's regular meeting, said he hoped SF officials wouldn't take the decision in bad taste.

"We don't consider this a triumph, at all," he said. "We have always sought sound relations with our neighbors."

Countering contrary statements made by SF authorities, Asst. Supt. David Shapiro said that all but one of the homeowners on the SF side are willing to negotiate.

The JESD board has instructed the district attorney to withhold court action, believing that "friendly" negotiations will be successful.

Supt. H. Z. Weibel has forwarded a proposal to the city council for joint-use of recreation facilities between the school district and city.

If an arrangement is reached,

Broadmoor Cops Have The Goods On This Driver

Broadmoor police think they have an air-tight case against a young San Francisco motorist.

The cops were eye witnesses when Glen Adams, 163 De Long, piled into the Broadmoor police department's brand new patrol car Saturday night on El Camino Real just south of Daly City.

To compound Adams' miseries, police claimed that the 25-year-old driver was drunk. A sobriety test at Junipero Serra hospital backed up this contention.

Officer Charles Manning had parked the two-week old '57 vehicle just off the south-bound lane of El Camino to investigate a minor two-car crackup. He carefully placed out red flares on the highway and had his red police light blazing.

Enter Adams, travelling south on El Camino. Apparently Adams spotted the red flares at the last instant, swerved to avoid the police vehicle, but was only half successful, crashing into the right rear fender of the cop car.

Manning called the California Highway Patrol to investigate and the two participants in the earlier accident verified that the red flares had been burning when Adams hit the police car.

Chief Ray Savage said damage to the police vehicle was between $300 and $400, but it could cost Adams more than that. He will appear for preliminary hearing on a drunk driving charge September 26 in municipal court.

Prepare Bulletin

At the suggestion of trustee Mrs. Katherine Mullen, the board will mail a bulletin to all parents later this month, explaining the reasons for double sessions, the board's "timetable" for new schools, and problems confronting the district in acquiring sites under the state aid program.

The double sessions will burden the district's 176 regular teachers to the ultimate extent, Weibel said.

Three instructors mailed their resignations to the board last week. They were Rodger E. Paul, Diane Tehan and Mrs. Ann C. Rees. They did not elaborate on their reasons for quitting.

The vacancies were filled quickly with the hiring of four teachers Wednesday night. The newcomers are William Cheney, Antoinette Simmons, Wilma House and Alida Quick.

While inspecting sites Saturday for the Jefferson district's fourth high school behind Linda Mar, Superintendent EDWARD MORGAN told the touring party, "the kids will really enjoy this site, considering the weather, location and natural beauty."

And so right he was, as just then from around the bend in the pastoral countryside came a herd of kids—15 bleating goats from a nearby farm.

New employees will be allowed to join the volunteer organization, but will not receive any compensation for responding to fires.

The 20 full-time firemen now in the volunteers will be able to maintain their membership and will continue to receive compensatory time off in lieu to pay for answering fires while off duty.

The matter of retaining the volunteer-sponsored insurance program for full-time city employees will have to be taken up with the insurance firm, the board said.

In other action Tuesday, the board:

1. Scheduled examination for city librarian October 11, and announced exam dates for the following other positions: police officer, October 28; typist clerk I, October 24; police sergeant, October 31; billing machine operator, October 23; junior civil engineer, October 21; firemen (2), October 21.

2. Set September 26, 7 p.m., as date and time for public hearing on the newly-drafted civil service rules and regulations.

3. Approved transfer of Charles Maschinot from poundman to police dispatcher clerk, with stipulation that he will receive the higher salary of the poundmaster position but will not be eligible for salary advancement in his new job.

4. Granted Robert Galindo, acting poundmaster, a leave of absence for a tour of duty with the Navy.

5. Approved establishing a physical agility test for prospective police and firemen.

one of the district's proposed schools on the Westlake basin property will utilize the park for recreation during school hours. But the state has stood firm on its recommendation for the full 18 acres in the basin for at least two JESD schools and an administrative headquarters. The recently released Strand Report, prepared by Stanford university researchers, termed the basin sites "a must."

Doelger Confab

Developer Henry Doelger and board representatives met last week, but the builder again indicated no willingness to negotiate on the basin property. The land is under condemnation.

Another delaying action facing trustees, determination of the M. Pauline Brown site boundaries, was continued Wednesday night following new protests from the Schenone family. Dick Lyon, attorney for the family whose four acres will be cut into under the state approved boundaries, got the board to hold off action until "final" alternate boundary proposal could be considered by state school planning officials.

Lyon's argument is that the district could easily exclude the small Schenone portion and still get state approval of funds for the site. Trustees, who submitted 19 previous site possibilities to the state, urged Lyon to personally consult the state "for the real facts."

Skyline Problem

The board Wednesday also moved to contact state political representatives for "immediate action on traffic control" at the Westmoor and Westridge intersections on Skyline. Students west of Skyline are being bussed to school at present, but the youngsters soon will have to walk with the completion of Vista Mar. The board feels that traffic signals, an overpass or an underpass must be installed "with a minimum of delay."

WESTMOOR BRANCH OF COLLEGE OPENS

Opening of the Westmoor Branch of the College of San Mateo, first step in extending college services to Northern San Mateo county, was announced today by Dr. Julio Bortalozzo, president of the college.

First courses will be given in the evening hours and are open to anyone 18 years old or over who has a high school diploma.

The college program, being developed in cooperation with the Jefferson Union High School district, will offer the following courses:

Tuesday, 7 to 10 p.m., psychology, general; Thursday, 7 to 10 p.m., mathematics coaching.

The following three courses, part of the industrial management certificate program, are also given: Wednesday, 7 to 10 p.m., industrial engineering methods; Tuesday, 7 to 10 p.m., organization for management; Thursday, 7 to 10 p.m., techniques of supervision.

The fall semester begins Monday and ends February 1.

another person in this salary range."

De Bernardi held that the "manager's office is already way overstaffed. The underling will have to be sacrificed if Stites is to get a pay raise."

Wilson also observed that Stites' private secretary receives $405 a month.

Other Action

In other action Tuesday, the council:

1. Adopted ordinances raising annual used car license fee from $50 to $100 and application fee from $100 to $200, but deleted section of ordinance which would have established $36 annual fee for vending machines, after plea by Councilman Sanford Vickers, who said the charge was "inequitable." Many firms, he said, maintain dispensing machines for the convenience of their customers and do not realize a profit on the devices.

2. Adopted ordinance rezoning Westlake parsels near Edgemar road to commercial to allow establishment of a concrete batching plant.

3. Introduced ordinance which would give council the power to set salary of the deputy tax collector position, now held by City Clerk Evelyn Mosman. The measure was introduced by Wilson, who has proposed that Mrs. Mosman receive more than the $50 she is now compensated for tax collection duties.

Quake Trouble

4. Heard report from De Bernardi that because of the March 22 earthquake some lines in the sanitation system were cracking.

5. Observed that Daly City band had been featured in the "International Musicians Magazine" and praised the work of bandmaster George Brenner and his musicians.

6. Presented certificates of commendation to Ann Carlson and Wayne Carr, former recreation and library commissioners, respectively.

7. Approved business license for Frank Spatarella to operate "Toto's Pizzeria" at 1913 Junipero Serra boulevard.

8. Accepted with regret the resignation of City Attorney Frank Blum, who will be sworn in as superior judge September 27. Blum was presented with an official commendation.

9. Set October 28 as date for public hearing on Hilltop Cab Co's request for two more taxi permits.

10. Directed Stites to advertise for bids for acquisition of a new police radio system. Alternate bids will be requested, quoting prices for cash and lease purchase sale.

11. Learned from Stites that the state division of highways has been asked to conduct a public hearing here on the route of the proposed Serra freeway.

12. Called for report on why switchboards operator works Saturdays and holidays, when, according to Wilson, only three or four calls are taken on these days.

WIA AGAIN CAMPAIGNS FOR SIGNALS

Westlake Improvement association's joint traffic committee will meet again this Wednesday night at 8 o'clock to push its campaign for traffic signals at the dangerous Westmoor and Westridge intersections on Skyline.

Almost every civic and social group in Westlake is represented on the committee. The public is invited to the session at 95 South Mayfair. Previous WIA appeals to state officials have been turned down.

The state, however, has launched a new survey of the situation at the request of the city council. Jerry O'Shea, local state highway representative, said his report would be sent to Sacramento in about two weeks. It will include a definite recommendation on the type of traffic control warranted. State funds for the work are not available in this year's budget, O'Shea pointed out.

Opening of Westmoor High and the increase flow of students across Skyline from the Palisades section have made the signals "a must," according to Ed Murphy, traffic committee chairman.

Last week's WIA meeting found several residents of the Palisades, units 8 and 9, attending for the first time. These people were admitted to WIA membership officially in July.

Manor Villagers 'Hear' Anti-City Chieftain Friday

E. L. Tong, outspoken and controversial Coastside figure, is scheduled to speak before the Manor Village Improvement Club on the pros and cons of incorporation at its regular meeting this Friday at 8 p.m., Pacific Manor school community-use room.

Bernard Ross, president of MVIC, stated that a formal letter request had been filed with the club by D. V. Stratton, secretary-treasurer of the Committee Opposing Incorporation. After due deliberation by MVIC leaders the request was granted. This action is in line with long-standing MVIC policy to give a hearing to all sides on a controversial issue affecting community interests.

"Established club policy dictates that we do not take a stand on controversial issues since it is the inherent right of individual members to make up their own minds on the issues and act according to individual interests," declared Ross in a forceful statement at a recent MVIC meeting in answer to a query by Tong.

He continued, "We have always stood for community betterment and point with pride to a long and distinguished record of substantial civic accomplishments as proof of our community interests on the Coastside."

Other matters of community interests which will be discussed at the meeting are: improvement of streets by county engineer's office; the question of legal jurisdiction of vehicular traffic on Manor Drive, and the Milagra Creek drainage problem. Last subject will be presented by Wendell Hunter, chairman of board and committee head on drainage. Hunter recently journeyed to Redwood City for a discussion with San Mateo county officials.

All interested Coastside residents are invited to attend this important meeting, according to Club Secretary, Mrs. Irma Johnson. Residents of Edgemar, Pacific Manor and Manor Village are urged to join MVIC. The dues to this voluntary organization are $1 per year. Meetings are held the second Friday each month at Pacific Manor school community-use room.

SUPERINTENDENT Ed Morgan and high school trustees Saturday made their umpteenth trip to the Coastside for consideration of the district's fourth high school site in the area behind Linda Mar. Accompanying them were builder Ray Higgins and a member of the county planning commission. Negotiations for the district's third high school site in Sharp Park are almost completed. Coastside students are expected to have their own high school in late 1960.

Letters To The Editor

SF Rec Center For Handicapped Cited By Mother

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

It was a pleasure to read the letter written by the mother of a handicapped child. I, too, have a handicapped youngster and have encountered similar problems.

There are a number of non-profit organizations ready and willing to be of service—but cannot — because they aren't permitted access to doctors' or hospitals' lists of patients. Probably the only way the handicapped youngsters can be contacted is through the Visiting Nurses Association, and even they may not have all the information regarding the aforementioned organizations.

There is a little-known place which is fast becoming "discovered." It is the Recreation Center for the Handicapped, located on the upper floor of the Fleishacker pool building in San Francisco.

Presently, it is operating under the sponsorship of the SF Guild for Crippled Children with an assist from similar non-profit groups. A bit of publicity regarding its operation would be greatly appreciated.

There is a Parents Auxiliary for any adult who is interested, whether said person is a parent or friend of a handicapped individual. There are many problems, foremost of which are transportation and publicity in contacting the handicapped.

The entire center is geared to the abilities of the handicapped. Games are revised so that wheelchair occupants can participate as well as the ambulatory ones.

Each person who has attended the center during its few years of operation has a story to tell of individual readjustment and encouragement in spite of severe handicaps.

Volunteers are always needed for various jobs at the center. Persons who'd like to help out or who are interested in the program are welcome to visit the center.

Thank you for this opportunity to publicize this wonderful program.

Sincerely,
MRS. J. P. RIDEAU
San Francisco

Kids' Health Home Spokesman Commends Westlake 'Donation'

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

The parents of the young people receiving training in the Sheltered Workshop and Activity Center in the Children's Health Home at San Mateo, want to take this means of expressing their heartfelt thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Orin Bender of the Towne & Beach Tog Shoppe of Westlake.

At the close of their annual sale, Mr. and Mrs. Bender presented all of their close-out merchandise and many other beautiful items to our parents group. These articles are to be used as the nucleus of a store being started for the benefit of these people. The benefit will be two-fold. The moneys from the sale of the articles will provide additional funds to enlarge their training program, and they will also learn in the actual handling of the merchandise as a phase of their training program.

The Children's Health Home is located at 515 E. Poplar avenue, San Mateo, and is the training school for the mentally retarded of San Mateo county. The school provides a nursery training program for mentally retarded children from 4 to 8 years of age. Public school facilities for the severely retarded children from 8 to 18 years of age are housed here. Also, a sheltered workshop and training school for those over 18 is provided. At the present time, three trainees from Daly City are enrolled in the workshop program, and 18 from the rest of the county.

Joseph R. Smith, the director, is looking forward to greatly expanded services this year, among which the store should be an outstanding feature, made possible through the generous giving of Mr. and Mrs. Bender. We are all so grateful to this splendid couple who are lending such a helping hand to these handicapped young people.

Most Gratefully,
Mrs. J. Lederer

Reader Appreciates Special School Data

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

I wish to thank your newspaper and Mrs. W. H. Beck of your city for all the information she has given me on the Senate reports of the Fifteenth Investigation Committee on Schools.

I received the books and find them most interesting. If anyone in Brisbane wishes to read them or would like to send for them, I would be most happy to help out.

Thanks again.

Westlake Burglar Hauls Off $175

A burglar raided the Lass & Laddie Shop in Westlake early Monday morning, making off with a money bag containing $175 in cash.

Owner Irving Scott said he found the front door unlocked when he arrived at the store about 8:15. The thief, who failed to take a second money bag with $171, got his loot from a locked drawed below the cash register.

Nothing else in the store was disturbed, according to police.

A special officer said the store appeared to be "in order" when he made his rounds about 5 a.m.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL BRINGS WARNING TO ALL DRIVERS

School time calls for extra caution by motorists and attention to the traffic laws pertaining to school zones warns the California Highway Patrol.

"Once again the shouting and running of boys and girls going to or from school will fill the air five days each week," stated Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "Many of these youngsters will be attending school for the first time or going to a new school.

"Either way, with new surroundings they are quite apt to make mistakes such as dashing across the street without looking or slipping out from behind a parked car," Caldwell reminded. "Only utmost caution and strict adherence to the traffic laws will help you avoid striking a school child with your car.

"The new speed law, effective this Wednesday, permits a top limit of 25 miles per hour when passing a school building or the grounds thereof while children are going to or leaving such school during opening and closing hours or the noon recess period," he said. "The 25-mile limit also applies when passing school grounds which are not separated by a fence, gate or other physical barrier while such grounds are occupied by children.

"Give the children a break and remember, they frequently do the unexpected," he concluded. "Make every school zone a caution area and help us protect our youth."

Atomic Submarine Duty Is Open To Navy Enlistees

The U.S. Navy's submarine force is expanding at a terrific rate and new men are constantly needed to train in the new concepts of the atomic service, Chief Leo Polhemus of the local recruiting station announced today.

The Navy now has four nuclear powered submarines. The Swordfish, recently launched at Portsmouth, N. H., was the first atomic-powered submarine built at a naval shipyard and represents a further step in the Navy's transition to nuclear propulsion.

The Navy has a special program open to those men who are desirous of becoming specialists in the nuclear field. In the nuclear field seaman category there are five schools available for men who want to be submariners.

Applicants enlisted in the nuclear field seaman ranks upon completion of boot camp and submarine training will be assigned to an additional period of training of approximately one years duration in nucleonics. Upon successfully completing this advanced training the new specialists will be assigned to duties involving nuclear power submarines.

HIGHWAY PATROL REVIEWS CIVIL DISASTER PLANS

The emergency disaster plan of the California Highway Patrol for this area is being reviewed in accordance with a revised master emergency disaster plan recently developed by Patrol Headquarters.

This announcement was made today by Captain John W. Kennedy of the Redwood City Area office of the Patrol on his return from an emergency disaster planning meeting in San Francisco.

"Local plans will be revised to include newly developed techniques and include closer cooperation between the local Patrol unit and other law enforcement agencies in emergencies," Captain Kennedy stated. "Responsibility to obtain and maintain traffic movement and control during emergencies and disasters is invested with the traffic enforcement agencies of the State and with local police.

"New plans call for annual tests in this area to enable the Patrol to be fully prepared to carry out assigned responsibilities in case of an emergency or declared state of disaster."

7000 Eligible To Vote On Incorporation

Twenty-six city council candidates will seek to woo some 7000 registered voters when the Coastside incorporation election is held October 29 to determine whether Pacifica is or isn't.

By the time the filing deadline fell Thursday, the county elections office had been deluged with papers from 26 candidates seeking the five council positions which will be created if incorporation is successful.

The number of candidates was believed to be an all-time record for any elective position in San Mateo county's history. The five candidates who finish with the highest vote totals will be placed in office if incorporation passes by the necessary majority vote.

7000 Eligible

The elections office estimated that 7000 Coastsiders would be eligible to vote in the much-debated issue. Registering deadline was also Thursday.

While a high percentage of the electorate is expected to turn out for the election, conceivably a candidate could win office with only a few hundred votes.

Among the council hopefuls are a man and wife team, Ernest and Elizabeth Fox, 1160 San Francisco boulevard, Sharp Park.

Apparently only two anti-incorporation candidates will be on the ballot. They are James P. Musselwhite, 7 Dundee way, Sharp Park, a machinist; and Mrs. Alice Martin, Pedro Valley accountant.

Mason, Miller File

Numbered among the 18 candidates who filed last week just before deadline was George Mason, 1063 Rosita road, Pedro Valley, leader of the city committee for incorporation. Also an aspirant to the new city's government is Donald Miller of Sharp Park, trustee on both the Laguna Salada and Jefferson High school districts. If he should be successful in his bid for office, he will resign one of his school jobs.

Other candidates include: Charles S. Bublak, butcher, 941 San Pedro terrace; Walter L. Campbell, lineman, 524 Johnson avenue; Daniel Robert Davis, 439 Harvey way; Jean S. Fassler, housewife, Box 43, Pedro Valley; Harold Feyge, engineer, 107 Angelita way; John T. Giberson, senior accountant, 1531 Rosita way; James K. Murray, industrial clerk, 360 Carmel avenue; Hector Piccone, service station owner, 248 Berendos; Robert L. Pope, wholesale dairy distributor, 371 San Mateo avenue; Claude Roberts, veterans representative, 956 Moraga way; Philip R. San Filippo, real estate salesman, 1143 Cabrillo way; Franklin A. Thrasher, 595 Inverness drive; Samuel C. Turpin, salesman, Sharp Park; Robert D. Hembree, insurance broker, 1212 DeSolo drive; Ralph Barkey, salesman, 18 Cragmont court; Harold L. Ordway, aircraft mechanic, 711 Claridge drive; Glenn C. J. Freese, 201 Pacific avenue; Gerald Schumacher, office manager, 915 Serana drive; Glenn A. Butler, 210 Reichling avenue; Roy A. Jones, nurseryman, 435 Heathcliff.

City To Share 'International' Letter Writing

International Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Daly City during the week of October 6 to 12, Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy announced today.

Commenting on the establishment of International Letter Writing Week, Postmaster Murphy pointed out that each year since 1938, the Post Office Department has joined in the observance of the annual event to emphasize the meaning and value of letter writing as a symbol of American freedom.

"As a result of its success," Murphy stated, "National Letter Writing Week will be conducted on an international basis for the first time this year. It is based on the idea that written communication between people in all countries of the world will contribute toward the building of a lasting peace.

"I am sure we are all aware that a personal letter is, next to the actual visit, the most intimate means each of us has to communicate with our fellow human beings. Letters between peoples of different nations are a sure method of establishing friendly relationships and understanding. The problems of freedom-loving peoples will be more quickly soved if they are better understood.

"I urge all citizens of Daly City to join in this first celebration of International Letter Writing Week and at the same time to write that overdue letter to friend and relatives in America," Murphy requested.

Veterans News

By Grace J. Hill

Service-disabled veterans may draw compensation from the Veterans Administration without forfeiting "after 50" disability payments from the Social Security administration. If entitled to both benefits they will not have to sacrifice one to obtain the other. They can have both. Since July 1, totally disabled persons having the necessary Social Security coverage can collect their old age benefits at the age of 50 instead of waiting until they are 65 years old. The disability must be permanent.

A last minute change in the law struck out the limitation which would have required that any other federal disability payment be subtracted from the Social Security benefit. Had the limitation stayed in the law, it would have cancelled out compensation paid to veterans for service-incurred injuries or ailments. Fortunately, this potential injustice was erased a few days after the disability provision took effect. Enactment of Public Law 85-109 on July 17 nullified the so-called offset provision retroactively to July 1.

Added Benefits

Now that the deduction rule has been eliminated, a veteran drawing compensation may also collect the full amount of any Social Security disability pay to which he may be entitled. Veterans who were otherwise informed may check back with the Social Security office and get the matter straightened out. However, veterans' compensation is the only benefit exempted from the offset rule. Other VA payments which must still be subtracted from Social Security disability pay at age 50 include death compensation and VA pensions for non-service connected disabilities.

Clarification of these facts may be obtained from any Service Officer of any veterans' organization.

Education benefits for children over 18 years of age are available for veterans' orphans under the Dependency and Indemnity law—PL 881. Be sure to get the detailed information from the Veterans' Service Office at the Courthouse, Redwood City.

The four Masonic lodges sponsoring the event include Crocker of Daly City, Blue Lakes of San Bruno, Coastside of Sharp Park and Francis Drake.

Phone Campaign To Push College Bond 'Yes' Votes

The corps of volunteer workers who will assist in the campaign to secure a landslide vote of approval for the October 15 $5,900,000 bond issue to unify the College of San Mateo on a centrally located campus and to obtain a North County site for future development, were preparing this week to launch a district - wide telephone and doorbell campaign starting the first of next month.

According to Kenneth W. Van Gundy, general chairman of the citizens' committee supporting the ballot measure, campaign workers will stress the following six points to explain to district voters the urgency to immediately expand the college's temporary and inadequate facilities to prepare for the vast number of students that will more than triple the college's present enrollment within the next few years.

1. Action must be taken now while land is available and before costs become prohibitive to secure a location for a unified, permanent college campus and a North County site for future development.

2. It is impossible to enlarge the college's present crowded facilities to provide for the flood of high school graduates enrolling during the next few years.

3. The Delaware property owned by the college has become too valuable for school purposes. In addition, there is not enough land available at that site to meet the college's expansion requirements.

4. Eighty percent of the college's 2900 day students are crowded into makeshift classrooms at Coyote Point. These war-built, temporary structures are potential firetraps.

5. Maintenance of the college's presently divided campuses is extremely costly— a unified site would be far less expensive to operate.

6. The acquisition of a North County site for later development is essential to provide for the educational needs of the vast residential areas in that section.

Van Gundy stressed that this is the first time since the college was founded 35 years ago that it has asked for bonds to improve its facilities. The college presently has no bonded indebtedness.

First In Series Of Incorporation Talks Set Tuesday

First in a series of speeches for Pacifica incorporation will be held Tuesday at Rockaway Beach Progressive club.

George Mason, chairman of the city committee which is sponsoring the series of talks, will be speaker for the initial presentation. He will speak on "Incorporation, What it Holds for All of Us."

Letters will be sent to all Coastside property owners groups to determine if they wish to have an incorporation speaker at one of their meetings. Five or six of the speaches will be given between now and the incorporation election October 29, Mason said.

In connection with the controversial incorporation issue, Mason announced that his group would not enter into a debate with the opposition group led by E. L. Tong of Pedro Point.

Mason declared that, "No constructive purpose would be served by our appearing on the same platform with these people. The past history of such debates has shown them only to confuse and bewilder, raise a conflict of personalities and obscure the real issues. We will not be a party to confuse the people."

ANNUAL RECEPTION

B'moor Presbyterian Welcomes Public School Teachers Sunday

"We appreciate our public school teachers, and we want them to know about it," said the Reverend Herbert Tweedie, minister of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, while issuing an invitation to all school teachers of the local elementary and high school districts to attend the annual reception given by the Church for the teachers, this Sunday, September 15.

It is believed to be the only formal reception by an organized church group for their public school teachers, and has become a tradition in the Daly City-Colma area.

"The teachers, whatever their faith may individually be, are cordially invited to worship with us if they wish at our normal 11 o'clock service, and to stay for the reception, or just come for the informal get-together starting at 12:15 p.m. in the social hall," said Tweedie.

Light refreshments will be served by the Women's Association, with Mrs. William Firneisz officiating at the tea table.

Invitations to the reception have been circulated through the Jefferson Elementary school district by H. Z. Weibel, and the Jefferson Union High School District by Edward Morgan, superintendents.

Hal Holman, adult sponsor of Westminster Fellowship group, which embraces the high school age, will give an address of welcome to the visiting teachers. With him and Reverend Tweedie in the reception line will be Mrs. William Davis, president of the church Women's Association; Glenn Hawley, superntendent of the Sunday School, and Mrs. Vic Guz, director of the church-sponsored daily Nursery School, operated on a non-denominational basis as a community service.

DEDICATION of St. Martin's Episcopal church was held at the Church site, Bradley and Southgate in Westlake Friday afternoon. Participating were (left to right) Richard Wainwright, church warden; The Rev. Allen U. Downey, vicar of St. Martin's; Trigg Davis, The Rt. Rev. Karl Block, Bishop of California; Chuck Craner, Henry Doelger who is building the church; and Superior Judge Frank Blum, chairman of the church's finance committee.

OLPH Festival Plans Gain Momentum

With the realization that Our Lady of Perpetual Help church's gigantic three-day festival, celebrating a tenth reunion, is only two weeks away, festival committee meetings are beginning to gain momentum.

George Calegari, chairman, met with the various committees last week to hear progress reports. "From the tone of the reports it would appear that the weekend of September 20 to 22 inclusive will be one that should be circled in red on everyone's calendar," the chairman said.

Friday, the opening night of the festival, will be featured as a special "family night." The public and all the children are invited to the Festival, admission being free. Prizes will be awarded to the largest family present, the youngest baby's parents and many others.

On Saturday night, the festival will welcome all the newcomers to the parish, with a special "newcomers night." The newest residents, and the newest bride and groom will be awarded prizes. A snack bar will be open for refreshments, chairmaned by Mrs. Marie Weeden, and will feature home-made pizza, as well as the usual refreshments. Also available will be pop-corn, candied apples and bananas.

The special attraction of Sunday will be the ham dinner, under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Drury, assisted by Mrs. Edwin Kollman. Menu for the day will consist of lettuce and tomato salad, baked ham, scalloped potatoes, candied yams, ice cream and cookies, rolls and coffee. Sunday night has been set aside also as "old timer's night" and special prizes will be given to the oldest person present, the oldest parishioner, the oldest graduate of OLPH present and special souvenirs for any of the graduates of the Class of 1947 present at the festival.

On Sunday night, too, the special awards of cash prizes will be given.

Additions to the growing corps of chairmen for the festival are Mike Cubic, ham booth; Joseph DiMaggio, nickle pitch; and Bill Whalen, pop-corn, candied apples and bananas.

Construction work on the various booths and decorations will commence next week under the direction of Calegari and will feature the 10th year reunion theme.

Interested participants at the festival committee meetings have been Father James Bergin, honorary chairman, and father Joseph Garrity.

The festival is being held for the benefit of the parish building fund. Admission is free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Methodist Ladies Await Luncheon, 'Holiday Time'

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Temple Methodist Church, Junipero Serra boulevard and 19th avenue, will meet next Wednesday, September 18, at noon for luncheon. The Joy Comstock Circle, with Mrs. Ole Fjeldmoe as chairman, will be in charge.

Reservations for the luncheon 65 cents per person, may be made by calling the church office, JU 6-1444, no later than Monday noon, September 16.

While the August meeting emphasized aprons, the focus September 18 meeting will be on needlecraft and kitchen gadgets. All those who plan to contribute articles for the "Holiday Time" bazaar, November 20 and 21, are asked to bring completed items to this meeting. Articles needed for this booth are kitchen towels, pillowcases, doilies, scarves, place mats, pot holders, barbecue mitts, and hot dish protectors for the table.

Following luncheon, Mrs. Richard R. Lancaster will be in charge of devotions. The program will be the presentation of some "Home Mission Projects" under the supervision of the Woman's Division of Christian Service. Under the department of work in home fields, social welfare and medical work, 15 children's homes of the Woman's Division help to meet the needs of children who must be cared for outside of their own home. The Woman's Division of Christian Service also sponsors 28 residences for young businesswomen in the United States.

Mrs. Francis Bassett, president of the Woman's Society, will preside over the business meeting.

On the invitation of John Harvey, whose program is heard over KGO each weekday from 1:05 to 3:30 p.m., Mrs. Francis Bassett will appear on his show next Monday, at approximately 2 p.m. She will give further information on the bazaar.

Readers are invited to continue to send Betty Crocker coupons and the M.J.B. unwinding bands to the church office. The women are attempting to secure more silverware and another percolator in time for use at the Bazaar dinner on November 20.

Church School Record Looms At St. Martin's

Due to rapid growth of the Daly City-Westlake area and extensive publicity given St. Martin's Episcopal church on its recent groundbreaking ceremony, registration at 9:30 a.m. Sunday for the church school Fall term is expected to exceed that of previous years, according to the Rev. Allen J. Downey, vicar.

During construction of its new building at Southgate avenue and Bradley drive, which was scheduled to start Tuesday, the church holds services in Westlake auditorium, 333 Park Plaza drive. Family worship service precedes separation of the congregation into classes for instruction. Adults are taught by the vicar; nursery care is offered for children under 2½ years, and a pre-school class for ages 2½ to 5.

Final texbook selections will be made tonight by the faculty, meeting at the vicarage, 94 Palmdale avenue, from the Fellowship series and the Cloister series of Episcopal study courses, both of which have been under review. Anticipating a transition next year to the Seabury series, newly published by the national Episcopal church after intensive child development studies, an observer will work with each teacher to note pupil reactions and assist in adjusting teaching methods to individual needs.

Changes in faculty assignments substitute Mrs. Jack Kimberley, Jr. for Mrs. Harry L. Bomgardner as first grade teacher, transfer Richard T. Phillips, teacher, and B. G. Nagy, observer, to the fifth and sixth grade boys' class, Heinz Apostel, teacher, and Ribert W. Foulks, observer, to the fifth and sixth grade girls' class, and add a high school boys' class taught by William Larsen. Dr. George Gibson, teacher, and George Streiff, observer, will head the high school girls. Music will be performed by the junior choir, directed by Mrs. John A. Snyder, with Allene Downey, organist.

Dance Group Welcomes New Instructors

By Gwin Mitchell

Westmoor Dance Group will be having a new instructor this year. Charles Hulse, who will take Dick Ford's place as teacher of creative dance to the preschool, kindergarten, first and second grade and tumbling classes, is another of the talented corps of instructors whom Ford has personally trained in his creative dance techniques and theories.

Hulse, in addition to an intensive dramatic career, has studied dance in New York and taught children's dancing classes in Los Angeles, as well as having put in a good training period with Ford this past summer. He has appeared in San Francisco Municipal Theatre and Straw Hat Theatre, Inc. productions locally, has been in television and in one movie, and will doubtless look familiar to anyone who happened to see "The King and I" on Broadway or during the National Company tour of the hit, in which he played the interpreter.

Girls in the ballet classes will welcome back darkhaired Judith Modell, a San Francisco ballerina with a dancing career which began at the age of three. At 17, she joined the San Francisco Ballet Company, and has been one of their featured soloists. She has also been a soloist for the San Francisco Opera Company and the newly formed Marin Ballet Company. Her roles have included Les Sylphides, Nutcracker, Swan Lake and Coppelia, and she has worked with many famous names of the dance world, among them Anton Dolin, Alicia Markova, and Toumanova.

CHARLES HULSE

Bad Checks Cause Search For Amputee

A physically handicapped pensioner is being hunted by Daly City police for passing five "phony" checks during July at J. C. Penney's in Westlake.

Sought is Arthur C. Bastian, about 55 years old, an amputee who uses a wheelchair.

Department store officials said the checks, amounting to a total of $235, were presented by Bastian during the period, July 18 to 25.

The suspect was accompanied to the store by a middle-aged Westlake women who said Bastian had lived for some time as a guest in her home.

The woman, who wished to remain unidentified, said the amputee listed Milwaukee, Wisconsin, as his forwarding address. Police have learned, however, that Bastian had been living in the waterfront section of San Francisco near the Embarcadero.

San Francisco is a hilly, densely populated peninsula tip of 45 square miles and some 800,000 residents.

OUR JOY AND SORROW

By Carol Baker

In the words of the Prophet—"Your joy is your sorrow unmasked—the deeper that sorrow carves into your being, the more joy you can contain—." It does seem an undeniable fact that joy and sorrow stem from the same great divine source,—for the man who has tasted of deep sorrow knows the joy through faith that follows—and the man who tastes of great joy seems destined to taste his share of sorrow.

Life has a rhythm all its own—as can be seen in the usual sequence of the seasons, the turnings of the sun and the moon, in the glory of birth, death, and the inevitable resurrection. All life has been created toward the rhythm of awareness—and the older we become the greater is our wisdom, and the less our fears of the unknown.

Especially when we lose a loved one do we find ourselves pausing to reflect on the divine rhythms that bind us all. At that time it is good to remember that N. Gray and Company Funeral Service, at Divisadero at Post; and 19th Ave., at Sargent; in San Francisco, take great care in remembering the reverence for life that is immortal.

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Brewer

Clifford Odets spent a decade in Hollywood as writer and producer and later wrote a play after he had parted company with the film industry. Appropriately titled, "The Big Knife," it is the latest San Francisco Theater Company production to play at the Encore Theater weekends.

It's a wildly dramatic tale about Charlie Castle, whose status as a big star had been saved in the years gone by thanks to the sacrifice of his friend and a conspiracy of silence. This of course leaves Charlie vulnerable to blackmail, which Marcus Hoff, studio head (Fred Stuthman) uses ruthlessly to force him to sign a distasteful long-term contract.

Vulturine Persistence

Dave Manley gives a high-tension performance in the role of Charlie and dominates the scene except when Fred Stuthman is on stage. The latter has a whale of a time in the role of Hoff, maintaining for the most part an icy calm which he occasionally shatters with the most outrageous emotional appeals, moistened with a few reptilian tears.

Jacqueline Engles has a well-handled small bit in the role of the gossip peddler who has the morbid persistence of a vulture, and as a starlet whose big role is always promised for next week, Marilyn Roberts is wanly bitter as she accepts the fact that she must live in the meantime.

Kevin Sullivan gives a smooth portrayal of the studio hatchetman. He is a matter-of-fact customer who is able to remove an embarrassing witness by a convenient "accident" as casually as one might eliminate a character from a film after an unfavorable audience preview reaction.

Well-paid Slavery

Maybe it's just the mood we're in today, but these stock Hollywood types have lost their power to shock us. The playwright undoubtedly intended "The Big Knife" to be a violet cry against the impact of materialism upon artistic honor; unfortunately, he speaks chiefly through Charlie, a man more inclined to whine than to rage.

Listening to Charlie making everyone miserable as he agonizes over his past mistakes, one can't forget that he's been carrying on like this for years, meanwhile, living the good life which they bought. Possibly this is the playwright's point — money corrupts. Maybe so. Just once we'd like to read the echoes from someone's term of well-paid Hollywood servitude, told in praise of the bank balance and with never a backward bite.

YMCA OPENS MULTI-FUNCTION FALL SCHEDULE NEXT MONDAY

Young married women and teen-age girls in Northern San Mateo County have a busy fall season planned for them by the YWCA. A wide variety of activities is featured every day of the week starting next Monday, according to Mrs. William Hofmann, area chairman.

On Monday a dog obedience training class will be held at Westlake Park from 7 to 8 p.m. with Fred M. Wills, Jr., instructing.

Tuesday is the morning for the Westlake YW-Wives Club to meet at Westlake Clubhouse from 9:30 to noon, and a playroom for 2 to 5 year olds is provided. Tuesday afternoon from 1:00 to 2:30 p.m., an exercise class for expectant mothers will give training in relaxation, breathing, and posture correction, under the direction of Mrs. Louise Grant, a registered nurse. The playroom will also be available at this time.

Golf lessons, sponsored by the YWCA, are given on Tuesdays, from 1:00 to 2:30 p.m., with the group meeting at the Colma Driving Range. Final sessions will be at the Golden Gate Park course. Instruction is by Larry Montes, golf pro.

On Wednesdays, a class in flower arranging will be given by Mrs. Anne Kohlhauf at Broadmoor Community Center from 10 a.m. to noon. In the afternoon, bridge lessons will feature a half-hour instruction on play-of-the-hand and Goren Point-Count bidding as well as play.

Thursday mornings, housewives go bowling with the YWCA. Meeting at the Brentwood Bowl in South San Francisco, the young mothers have informal instruction and YWCA league play, while their pre-school children are cared in a playroom at the Bowl.

For further information on all these activities, fees and registration, call the YWCA Westlake Office, PL 6-3488, or drop in at Room 272, 375 South Mayfair avenue.

Principal and semi-annual interest (March 1 and September 1) payable at the office of the Treasurer of San Mateo County in Redwood City, California. First coupon (annual) payable September 1, 1958. Coupon bonds in denomination of $1,000 registerable only as to both principal and interest.

In the opinion of counsel, interest payable by the District upon its bonds is exempt from all present Federal and State of California personal income taxes under existing statutes, regulations and court decisions.

We believe that these bonds are legal investments in California for savings banks, subject to the legal limitations upon the amount of a bank's investment, and are likewise legal investments in California for other funds which may be invested in bonds which are legal investments for savings banks, and are eligible as security for deposits of public moneys in California.

These bonds, issued under provisions of Division 3, Chapter 17 of the California Education Code for various school purposes, in the opinion of counsel constitute valid and legally binding obligations of the Jefferson Union High School District. The Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within said District subject to taxation by said District (except certain intangible personal property, which is taxable at limited rates) without limitation of rate or amount.

Woman Claims Hubby Beat Her Savagely

A Daly City housewife, who police said showed signs of a severe beating, today indicated she would sign an assult and battery complaint against her husband, a local tavern owner.

Charging that she was subjected to four recent beatings was Mrs. Dorothy Stampanoni 94 San Pedro road, who was escorted from her home by police Wednesday afternoon.

The husband, Agelo, told officers his wife had been drinking and he wanted her arrested. The residence bore evidence of a battleground, according to the report.

The woman has two children and has moved in with her former husband.

PROGRESS of Vista Grande primary school, off Thiers and Wyandotte, brought heavy criticism of contractor Hub Pacific Wednesday night as the school district's inspector cited "unnecessary delays." Lack of Vista Grande and Vista Mar has forced 1054 students to undergo double sessions. The school, by contract, isn't supposed to be ready until January 27. But six classrooms, and nothing else, may be ready by mid-October.

Woman Candidate For SF Supervisor

Molly Minudri, a former deputy in the office of the Public Defender, and well known for her interest in civic affairs, today announced her candidacy for election to the Board of Supervisors.

Mrs. Minudri named Dr. Henry A. Tagliaferri, prominent dental surgeon, and Mrs. Anna Dippel, former member of the Park-Recreation Commission, as co-chairmen of her campaign committee.

Mrs. Minudri, 53, was a City employee for eleven years prior to 1950, when she passed the Bar examination after studying law in the evening classes at the University of San Francisco. In 1955 she was appointed Deputy Public Defender, the first woman ever to hold the position. She resigned last April 1 to resume the private practice of law.

In announcing her candidacy, Mrs. Minudri said:

I believe that I have the experience and qualifications to serve my City on the Board of Supervisors. San Francisco is in a period of transition, and its elected representatives must act intelligently in dealing with the many and varied problems.

More than ever before, public office holders must be sensitive to the needs of the community. If elected, I promise to work wholeheartedly in the interest of all of the people of San Francisco.

In the political history of San Francisco, only two women have held office as members of the Board of Supervisors. The late Mrs. Mary Margaret Morgan was the first woman elected 30 years ago, and Mrs. Clarissa Shortall McMahon is now serving.

5 Motorists Jolted In Alemany Crashes

Five drivers were shaken up in two separate car accidents on Alemany boulevard in Westlake this week.

Faulty signals at the Skyline-Alemany intersection Monday afternoon resulted in a collision between cars driven by Lorraine Gerow, 25, of Sharp Park, and Jiro Amano, 28, of San Francisco. Miss Gerow was treated for minor injuries at Junipero Serra hospital.

Three autos were involved in a crash Wednesday afternoon near Park Plaza drive. Police said a car going west on Alemany, driven by Harry Gardner, of Bakersfield, rammed one driven by Jeanne Drakulich, 92 Lake Forest drive, as the woman was crossing the busy boulevard. Impact forced her vehicle into a third car, stopped for the signal, driven by Alice Jacobs, 111 South Mayfair.

LAW IN ACTION

CRIMINAL TRIAL

After the court swears the jurors in, the prosecutor in a criminal case tells them what he plans to prove, and calls his first witness.

As the prosecutor gets through with each witness, the defense counsel may cross-examine him. Cases such as a recent English murder trial are often won on cross-examination, where a witness' story may fall to pieces.

1. The prosecution's witnesses must prove that somebody has committed a crime. This is the corpus delicti.

No court can convict an accused of robbery or murder, for example, upon confession alone without independent proof that the crime was committed.

2. A lawyer may have to "lay a foundation" for certain evidence. He cannot put a confession in evidence, for instance, before he has shown that it was made freely.

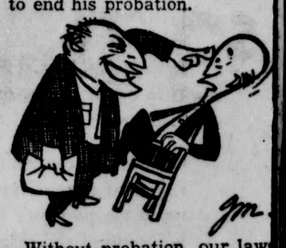
3. When the court has heard all the evidence, each side sums up or "argues" its case to the jury.

4. The judge then "instructs" the jury on the law to apply, and sometimes discusses the evidence in order to help the jury reach a just verdict.

5. The jury's verdict is a finding of fact and not a "judgment." The judge ordinarily makes the judgment within twenty-one days after the trial. In a criminal case, it is called the "sentence"—death, imprisonment, fine, etc.

6. Meantime, as a rule, the judge asks the probation officer to look into the case and report after talks with the accused's friends, kinfolks, former employers, or teachers.

7. Should the judge grant probation, the accused reports to a probation officer for the term, and then asks the judge to end his probation.



Without probation, our laws fix minimum and maximum terms of imprisonment. After the prisoner has served long enough for the Adult Authority to study him, it sets his sentence within these limits.

A prisoner may also merit time off for good behavior.

Just like any dad pleased with his son's athletic ability, delightful and talented George Gobel—one of TV's brightest stars — talked enthusiastically about his son in answer to our questions. Guest at a recent press luncheon, speaking in his quiet soft voice, without a change of expression, the famous crew-cut comedian related anecdote after anecdote, completely captivating the assembled press as the room rocker with laughter.

Talking about the most ordinary incident, he managed to make it the funniest story we had ever heard. Television is like a powerful magnifying glass easily showing up phonies. On television George Gobel shines through as the genuine and modest person he is. Talking to him in person one again senses this modesty, almost a humbleness. He doesn't have to throw pies of force his humor . . . it is there, subtle and delightful. He readily answered questions about his program, but seemed most at ease when discussing his family. He has a petite charming wife, Alice, and three youngsters, Greg, 11, Georgia, 6½ and Leslie 3½.

His first show of the season premieres over NBC, KRON-TV on September 24 at 8 p.m.

For a refreshing and thoroughly entertaining hour, we suggest you meet George Gobel —one of the truly great comedians of all time.

A RAINBOW of color . . . . As brilliant as its peacock trademark . . . as gay as the bright red sash Dinah Shore wore . . . NBC proudly presented previews of 1957-58 programs over a special closed circuit telecast held at KRON-TV studios. The shows for the coming season almost defy description . . . ranging all the way from scientific productions —"The Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays" — to dazzling musical colorcasts starring famous singing stars. There will be five productions by the NBC Opera Company . . . and for youngsters, "Pinocchio" . . . fairy tales starring Shirley Temple . . . and many others. As we watched the telecast vivid and clear on the RCA color receiver, we again were struck by the contrast between black and white and color. In a colorcast, the performers appear so alive, that you almost have to pinch yourself to realize they aren't in your living room.

Hasbun, O'Brien Now Bluejackets

Maurice G. Hasbun and Stephen J. O'Brien of Daly City have enlisted in the Navy, according to Chief Leo Polhemus of the local recruiting station.

Maurice is the son of Mrs. George Hasbun, 125 Bismark street. Stephen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George E. O'Brien, 364 Miriam street.

The pair enlisted under the "Buddy Program" which will find them undergoing training in the same company at San Diego Naval Training Center.

O'Brien is a former member of the California National Guard and enlisted as airman apprentice. Upon completion of "boot" training and recruit leave, he will attend an eight weeks course at the Airman School in Norman, Oklahoma.

Hasbun enlisted as a seaman recruit and will try for Commissaryman's School upon completion of recruit training.

Information about the Navy's "Enlist With Your Buddy Program" and the "High School Graduate Training program" can be obtained at the recruiting station, 6705 Mission street, or by calling PL 6-3740.

Indians, Beefy Rams Speed Grid Warmups

Emphasis is on conditioning this week as Jefferson and Westmoor football candidates race through opening practice for the 1957 Peninsula League season.

Joe McGrath has 44 players sweating it out for starting assignments at Jeff. Pete Matisi of Westmoor was greeted by 60 hopefuls. Both squads will start heavy scrimmaging next week.

The Indians open at home on September 27 against strong Encinal High of Alameda. The Rams debut the same afternaan in San Jose against Willow Glen.

Line Problem

Paul Tapia at quarterback is McGrath's lone returning regular. Joe will rely on untried newcomers in the line and several returnees with reserve experience.

Sonny Martinez, Ron Molina and sophomore Art Banos give McGrath much optimism at the halfback posts. Fullback looms a tossup between rugged Pat Lena and Herb Dirks.

Martinez was a starter last season but was sidelined most of the time by a bad knee. He could be the surprise of the league. Molina and Banos also are swift packers.

Ends Strong

Gary Ryan, Bob Berry and frosh-soph standout Pete Garcia look the best of McGrath's end prospects. Ryan and Berry saw limited action a year ago, mostly on defense. Garcia sparked the Indian yearlings at QB.

The two leading guards, Dwayne Cook and Pete Rogerson, tip the scales at 185 and 190. Tackles are headed by Neil Dunsford, a part-time performer in '56, soph Bob Nielson, and transfer Bob Schuetz.

Bill Dixon, another soph, is the chief center possibility.

McGrath is assisted by Steve Mezzera. Frank Pustay will boss the Indian jayvees through a regular schedule, and Bob Watt is working with 42 freshmen for their campaign.

Rams Pack Power

Matisi and aides Will Stensland and Floyd Gonella are optimistic because the holdovers from Westmoor's first squad last fall pack both heft and hustle.

Backfield returnees with promise are Leo Wyreck, Dave Simmons, Bob Roller and lanky Gary Pederson.

Outlook up front is exceptional as the Rams won't be giving away weight to any foe this season. In fact, Matisi's first three tackles might be the roughest on the Peninsula.

Joining Jim Lansing, 220, and Bob Simi, 190, is Mike Abrahamson, a senior transfer from the Midwest, scaling 215.

Paul Giomi and Steve Robinson are dependables at guard. Top ends thus far are Sid Swanson and Ray West. Marty Knedel looks strong at center.

Coaches Busy

Stensland and Gonella also will direct the Ram jayvees in JV league action on Mondays. Rod Losberger is in command of the Westmoor frosh.

Complete rosters of both schools will be published in the September 26 issue of THE RECORD.

8 DC Footballers Await College Duty

SOPHOMORE Jim Honeywell, a fullback out of Jefferson High, is expected to give Lou Valli a strong run for starting duty at Stanford this season. The 205-pound Colma youngster is the heaviest hauler in Coach Chuck Taylor's well-stocked backfield corps.

Eight Jefferson High football graduates will be performing this fall in local and national competition.

Daly City fans will have their peepers on Jack Thur, Michigan State guard, and Jim Honeywell, Stanford fullback, a pair of strong sophs with All-America potential.

Both earned Peninsula and All-Northern California honors when they cavorted for Joe McGrath at Jefferson.

Thur is regarded one of the top soph prospects in the Big Ten. His scholarship came on recommendation of Tony Giammona, head of the Westmoor High physical education department. Tony was a quarterback for MSC before a knee injury ended his grid career.

Thur may make two appearances out West this campaign. The Spartans meet Cal at Berkeley early in the season and could reach Pasadena if they live up to early reports.

Honeywell, the Colma cruiser, was outstanding in '56 for the Stanford Freshmen. Coach Chuck Taylor said today that Jim will see "lots of action" behind starter Lou Valli. Honeywell checked in at 205 and has exceptional speed for a big lad.

Tom Cloutier, 6-4 Jeff passcatcher last year, is listed among a prize freshman crop at Cal.

No less than five Jeff products are gunning for starting duty at College of San Mateo. The Bulldog hopefuls from this neck of the woods are fullback Ron O'Rourke, halfback Wayne Lee, and linemen Bill Riedstra, Rich Cryer and Al Arneson.

3 Jeff Baseball Regulars Nurse Hi Hopes At Cal

Three members of Jeff High's pennant-winning North PAL baseball team have enrolled at University of California.

Hoping to perform for George Wolfman at Cal are outfielder Tom Cloutier, catcher Bill Strassburger and shortstop Mike Wedlake. Wolfman's varsity Bears were NCAA champions last spring.

Ed Leveroni, hard-working Jeff righthander who hurled the Indians to the 1957 title, is at College of San Mateo. He eventually will enter Cal or stanford.

Third sacker Leroy Franzoia is attending University of San Francisco, majoring in accounting.

Other reports on former Jefferson athletes find cager Larry Blanchard at College of San Mateo and track-basketball ace Bill Curtis at City College of San Francisco. Blanchard intends to transfer next year to Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington.

South City Pros Host Phoenix 11

South City's semi-pro Windbreakers, 2-2 in exhibitions, host the Phoenix Suns this Sunday in their Western Pro League opener at Kezar stadium.

Coach Ben Bramble's team uses both the standard T and the single wing.

The 'Breakers won their first two contests, then lost to Santa Cruz and powerful Petaluma.

Reserved seats for Sunday's battle cost $2. General admission is $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for students.

Ex-Jeff Athlete Out Of Action — Breaks Vertebrae

Dan Miceli, 17-year-old Jefferson track and football letterman last year, suffered a broken vertebrae in an accident early Saturday morning when his auto rolled over on Lake Merced boulevard after hitting a soft shoulder.

Miceli, driving north on Lake Merced, moved over near the shoulder to allow another vehicle to pass him and the car went out of control after hitting the soft enbankment.

He was hospitalized for three days and will be required to wear a body cast for some six months, eliminating his chances of trying out for the track squad at San Jose State college, where he will enroll Monday.

Miceli's passenger, Stuart Singer, 95 Lakemont, received only a slight cut from the accident.

Miceli is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miceli, 336 Abbot avenue.

The rebirth of timber as America's most versatile natural resource has occurred largely during the past 25 years.

ABOVE is cover of the sixteenth book written by Daly City's Samuel Peeples, who goes by the pen name of Brad Ward. The new Western will be released this week by the Macmillan company of New York. One of Sam's books, "The Marshal of Medicine Bend," has been made into a movie, starring Randolph Scott.

DOUGLAS Elsworth, San Bruno, shows Heather Burns, Burlingame, and Michele Bruseth, Daly City, how foundation brickwork must be braced on one of the temporary classrooms now being used by the College of San Mateo at Coyote Point. The three above, all students at the college, are strongly in favor of the $5,900,000 college bond issue to be voted Tuesday, October 15, to relocate the college on a permanent central campus and acquire a North County site for future development.

Ex-Jeff Great Don Delbon Quits Oregon For SFS

Don Delbon, considered Jeff High's greatest basketball player, has left University of Oregon and will finish his collegiate work at San Francisco State.

Announcement of the star cager's transfer was revealed today by Mike Orlich, his coach at Jefferson.

An All-Northern California selection as a prep, Delbon attended Oregon on an athletic scholarship. His marriage this year was the main reason for the move to the Lake Merced campus, it is believed.

Delbon, whose parents live in Brisbane, will be eligible for the Gator varsity.

BYA MIDGETS FACE YANKEES IN 'TITANIC'

Broadmoor Youth Association this Saturday shoots for undisputed Midget League "team of the year" distinction when the locals battle the powerful Portola Yankees at Balboa park diamond. The sandlot titanic begins at noon.

Randy Hix, BYA pilot, has nominated his son, Bruce, for the hill chore. Bruce has a remarkable 15-0 mound record and leads his teammates in hitting with a phenomenal .722 average.

The Portolans, 25-1, recently won the Saturday Playground League by tripping Funston. BYA, 27-1, holds the only victory over the Yankees in the past two years.

Should BYA lose Saturday, the Hix kids will face the Yanks in another playoff game.

BYA's starters Saturday will be Larry Skinner behind the plate, Jerry Ward at first, Alan Contreras at second, John Vocke at short, Jim Fisher at third, and outfielders Craig Chapot, Wayne Stoller and Alan Stoller.

BYA bumped the DC Reds, 7-2, last Saturday in the sixth week of Junior Manager's League action. Ron Johnson was on the hill, fashioning a torrid one-hitter.

Firemen Jolt Gendarmes, 18-6

Christian 'Outlucks' Petrocchi

Although he fanned 14 batters, Chief Roland Petrocchi and his keystone cops succumbed to an early bombardment Sunday as the fire department's youngsters clobbered the ancient men-in-blue, 18-6, before a laugh-happy throng at Marchbanks.

Both "teams" failed to kick their conversions.

The first annual municipal clash opened the fund-raising push for the Police Athletic League and aided the Boy Scouts.

Cool Charlie Christian, who looks like he still has enough to win as a pro, lefthanded the hose haulers to victory and a perpetual trophy.

Superb Southpaw

Not once was the smooth ex-Cal State League southpaw in danger. Three five-run innings made his effort as easy as falling off a log. He scattered nine hits, according to the lenient scorekeeper.

Elmer Kennedy's legions exploded for five in each of the first two frames and rammed across the same number of tallies in a big fifth. Questionable fielding, an offshoot of old age killed a herculean effort by iron-man Petrocchi.

The men in the red suspenders bombed the cops for 14 hits, most spectacular of which were two triples and a double off the bat of John Castagnola a just plain hungry shortstop.

Belting Bulls

Big Roy Beecher, the old COP fullback, and Dave Hansen, from the Halls of Montezuma, banged the hardest for the losers. Beech planted a double beyond the left fielder early in the going and would have had a homer if his puffing hadn't been so furious.

Hansen clouted a chest high fast ball some 380 feet into right centerfield, scoring Beecher. The blast, another four-master possibility, nettled the stormy Leatherneck two bases.

Castagnola, however, was the game's main menance. Petrocchi winced everytime the pesky paisano stepped to the plate.

Kennedy, the last rose of summer, was a pop-up victim as leadoff man for the winners. Roland served him a "goofball and Elmer tee'd off but good. Petrocchi's catch of the thing humiliated Kennedy so much he retired for the rest of the tilt.

Mel Was Treed

Biggest excitement came midway in the tilt, when Kennedy chased Mel Battye, the play-by-play announcer, up a tree for showing so much "partisanship."

Battye was still out on limb at press time.

Pete Markovich, the Morag fugitive, was hauled off to the clink for offering Kennedy a bribe. Joe Lewkowitz, the third man at the announcer's table finished the contest "with fear in my heart."

The Lions club made the day a corking success by presenting a handsome trophy. The prize will be held by the smoker until the next contest.

The city's brass got in on the act, too. Manager Howard Stites and Councilman Sanford Vickers formed the battery for the first-pitch. Del Wilson missed the pill by two feet.
